

Anh Duong (Self) Portraits

Anh Duong's works mainly consist in portraits and self-portraits. Her paintings, heavily influenced by Julian Schnabel, read as a hunting and arresting questioning of identity and its multiple guises. The book will highlight this relentless quest, and will alternatively feature her self-portraits and photographs by famous photographers for whom she posed: David Seidner, Francois Halard, Oberto Gigli, Peter Lindbergh and Herb Ritts.
