American billionaire Wayne Baldwin has traveled to a well known couples resort on a small Caribbean island to try to mend his marriage with his wife Bridget. As mending his marriage seems to be growing more and more impossible, he meets an attractive hotel worker, Trisha Jn Marie.

Trisha is an Afro-Caribbean woman whose life always seems to be spiraling out of control. Her younger sister has ovarian cancer and her verbally abusive mother relies on her to financially support their family. Love is the last thing on Trishas mind, especially when she meets Wayne, the handsome but off-limits hotel guest.

When Wayne discovers that his wife Bridget is cheating on him, he wants nothing more than to pursue his attraction to Trisha. But Trishas morals get in the way of her being with a married man; she refuses to be with Wayne until he leaves his wife. However, Bridget isnt quite so willing to let go of her cash cow... Will Wayne and Trisha get a chance to be together without everything falling apart? As both of their personal lives start to get out of control, their love will have to withstand numerous tests for them to ever get their happily ever after ending...
